Under is the man's name, and he is believed by the authorities to have a record as a wiretapper. He is now held at the county jail.

His two companions were caught in a Mateo county, three days ago, by a constable of that county and Clifford Brown, brother of the deputy sheriff of Alameda county (Clifford Brown is San Mateo manager of the wiretappers for some time, he was on the lookout for them three days ago, when he saw three men act suspiciously near the Six Mile cause. He telephoned for a constable, and the three men were placed under arrest. Under, who was one of them, was away from the party, but he was picked up in a saloon to get a drink, and excused himself for a moment and led to return. The other two men were locked up in Redwood City.

WIFE CHARGES EXTREME CRUELTY

Mrs. Frieda Eggers Begins Suit for Divorce From Her Second Mate.

(Special to The Tribune.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Frieda Eggers, an ex-convict, has filed a bill of divorce from her second husband, Ferdinand Eggers, to whom she was married on July 4, 1900. The complaint by Mrs. Eggers charges a number of typewritten pages and reveals the fact that the trouble between husband and wife has been caused by extreme cruelty on the part of the husband. The bill charges that on one occasion the husband threatened to throw her grandchild out of the window and was only restrained after a struggle. She says that when he returned home on October 4, and was talking with Mrs. Chaignon, a neighbor, her husband came in and deliberately turned out the gas and told her to leave the house. She asks for $750 a month alimony pending the result of her suit, and $250 attorney's fees.

BLAKE CONVICTED OF ATTEMPT TO BRIBE A RUFF JUROR

VERDICT RETURNED LATE LAST NIGHT

Attorney for Defense Declares He Will Immediately Appeal the Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—E. A. S. Blake was last night convicted of an attempt to bribe John Mar in Kelly, a prospective juror, to try the Ruff case. The jury was out five hours and twenty-five minutes. The verdict was announced at 11:10 p. m. A $5000 fine or five years imprisonment is the punishment provided by the Penal Code Judge Dunne says he will pass sentence next Saturday.

After four hours' deliberation on the juryman asked that Section 2 of the Penal Code, which Blake is accused of violating, be read to them.

After dinner Judge Dunne and Assistant District Attorney Farrell held a long discussion. Their votes were split, as it was thought that the jury could hear the discussion. The wall between the judges' chambers and the juryroom is thin and the conversation had not continued long before the jury filed in with a verdict.

As soon as Judge Dunne finished giving his instructions to the jury in the afternoon he ordered Blake into the custody of the Sheriff. The attorneys for the defense were surprised by this order. Blake will sleep at the City Prison tonight.

William H. Scholes, one of Blake's lawyers, said, "I can't see how the jury arrived at the verdict. I will appeal the case immediately. The prosecution made a fatal mistake by stating in Blake's indictment that Ruff is charged with offering a bribe. This is not so. Ruff is merely along with Ford and Calhoun and the three are charged with both offering and giving a bribe."

One juror held out for acquittal for five ballots. The District Attorney's office declares that the verdict was the only one possible in view of the evidence.

COUNTY ASSESSMENT ROLLS TURNED OVER TO TAX COLLECTOR

SHOW $3,000,000 IN REVENUE

Growth of the County Calls for Many More Volumes and 85,000 Tax Bills, Exclusive of Special School Taxes.

County Auditor George S. Pierce today turned over to Tax Collector James Bar-ber the eight-year assessment rolls of the county for the fiscal year of 1908-9 with $3,000,000 in revenue. The task was finished under the direction of the County Auditor, Harry Rogers two days ahead of the time allowed by law. This record surpasses that of last year by two days and the fact that last year the county had but seventy-two rolls and this year sixteen more were added. The tax collector will be in charge of the rolls for the next year. The rolls will be in charge of the tax collector for the next year. The rolls will be in charge of the tax collector for the next year.

MANY BOOKS MORE.
From the volume of work this year it was demonstrated that the number of rolls in the county is increasing. Valuations, new properties being opened and improved, the increasing number of mortgages, etc., will go on to one hundred and fifty rolls. The rolls will be in charge of the tax collector for the next year. The rolls will be in charge of the tax collector for the next year.

OVER MILLION IN OAKLAND.
Oakland city, without figuring the personal property of the city, is assessed for $1,252,781. The incorporated towns in the county were endeavoring to shake them off, throw them away; he became decidedly annoyed because they would stick to his arms.

Interruptions occurred. They were interrupted by the will of the county to which the British House of Commons occasionally yields itself. On the first "No, no!" the President gave a bang at his bell. When there were cries of "No, no!" from half a dozen quarters, he stood up and aimed straight at the speaker. When he shouted, he seemed bent on breaking that bell. He appealed for fair hearing, got into personal altercation with a member, and was easily, because whenever the man who had challenged him attempted to reply he drowned his utterance with the clang-clang clang-clang of the gong.

SERBIA'S STRENGTH IN CASE OF WAR IS OVER 300,000 TRAINED MEN
Serbia is divided into five districts. The militia was reorganized into seventy-five battalions of active army and reserve (total 84,000 men), and 120 battalions of territorial militia (total 73,500 men), giving a force of 157,500 men. The total war strength (1905) was 300,000 men.

Dentists Glasses

The dentist uses his eyes under varying circumstances. He has to get them into focus to see minute points at very close range, and of course has frequent occasion to look around his office.

In a few instances dentists possess power to accommodate their eyes for these alternating distances and glasses are not needed. Others feel the strain and must wear glasses—sometimes two pairs—in order to obtain an easy view of both far and near things.

The genuine Kryptok is especially valuable to the dentist, for (no matter what his age may be), he needs but one pair whether he is examining a patient's teeth or looking at the far end of his office.

Peary Leaves Etah With Bow of 'Roosevelt' Leaking

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Henry Johnson, able seaman of Peary's vessel, the Roosevelt, has arrived in New York from Greenland, bringing the first news of the Arctic expedition that has been received since the north pole was reached. Johnson, who was left behind by his ship last June, while getting ice from a glacier at Etah, where the Roosevelt was taking on stores and making repairs, Johnson was stricken with a chill in his knee and sank on the ice unable to walk. He grew worse rapidly and to his bitter disappointment, he says, he was obliged to start south to save his leg from amputation.

Johnson brings with him a letter from Peary to the Peary Arctic Club of this city. A report of progress of the expedition up to August 18 is said to be contained in this letter, with photographs and interesting data. Peary is reported to have expressed in the letter his complete satisfaction with the results of the trip thus far.

A condensed story of the expedition was kept by Johnson. The diary states that a hurricane encountered July 20, just off the coast of Greenland, opened the seams of the Roosevelt at the bow to such an extent that several of the crew felt that the vessel was unsound. A rough voyage among craggy icebergs. While the vessel was repaired partly at Etah before she steamed north, Johnson says her leaky bow causes apprehension among some that she may not survive the perilous trip.

TRAVEL TALKS TO BE GIVEN HERE

LEOYD SCOTT Who Will Give His Famous Travel Talks in Oakland.

Manager Will L. Greenbaum Announces Lloyd Scott Lectures Will Be Heard in Oakland.

Manager Will L. Greenbaum announces that he will present in Oakland "Lloyd Scott's Travel Talks," now coming with great success in San Francisco. This will be the first time that a series of entertainments of this class has been offered in Oakland.

A "travel talk" is quite different from a lecture, for it does not consist of a lot of dry statistics, but of charmingly told narratives, both anecdotal and descriptive, continually illustrated by either beautifully hand-colored lantern views, moving panoramas, or clever magic lanterns. One realy imagines that they are really visiting the country being discussed, and one Eastern writer called them "traveling in an easy chair at home."

Mr. Lloyd Scott, who will give this series, is an American and after graduating from the University of Pennsylvania, went abroad and took the degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence at Heidelberg. After that he has been traveling, accompanied by his camera, and he has accumulated a collection of photographs that perhaps has not an equal in the world.

The series to be given in this city at Maple Hall will consist of five subjects, and the dates are so arranged that subscribers to the course will not have to go on any successive nights.

The first night will be Monday, October 12, when "India" will be the subject. Wednesday night, the 14th, "Japan," and for this talk some wonderful slides painted by artists in Tokyo and Hono will be exhibited. Friday night, October 16, "Russia," and Saturday night, October 17, "Egypt," and "Western Europe." On October 20, "Ireland," for which the views were painted at the Academy of Art in Dublin.

SUBJECTS ILLUSTRATED. Each subject will be illustrated by about one hundred and twenty-five pictures. The machines for projecting are all of the very latest kind, and it will be like visiting an art gallery to see the slides, colored in both oil and water colors.

Course tickets, good for five events, will be sold at $1 and $2 according to location, and every seat in Maple Hall is good. Single seatings will be $1 and 50 cents, with general admission 50 cents.

The box office for the sale of course tickets will open next Tuesday, October 13, at Sherman, Clay & Co.'s Thirtieth and Broadway, and the seats for single nights will be ready Thursday morning.

This will be the first of a series of great attractions that Manager Greenbaum will present here this season.

Mrs. W. Green Radford will be the local representative of the Lloyd Scott travel talks.

TAKES HASTY ACTION.

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10.—Quite a flurry in local church circles was caused last evening when Rev. W. E. Storey, for a number of years past pastor of the First Baptist Church and one of Sacramento's most prominent ministers, tendered his resignation to the board of trustees.

Rev. Mr. Storey resigned because he had heard that his salary was to be reduced. The action came as a surprise to the trustees, who had not heard of the matter until the board of trustees met last night.

THIRD CONCERT IS TO BE HELD

Orchestral Program Will Be Given Tonight in Hearst Greek Theater.

BERKELEY, Oct. 10.—The musical and dramatic committee of the university announced last night that the series of four Saturday evening orchestral concerts in the Hearst Greek Theater this evening will open with an orchestral rendering of the hymn "Glory, California," the words of which were written by Charles Korb and the music by J. R. Dismore. As a vocal piece, with piano accompaniment, this is well known and deservedly popular, but only recently has Dismore's orchestra-ec, it, and this will be the first time that the orchestra will be performed a public.

It will be followed by the three movements of Saint-Saens' Concerto, for violin and orchestra, in A major, Opus 33. Miss Dorothy Dismore playing the violin. Number three will be Brahms' Symphony, the violin solo part of which will be played by Miss Mary Dismore. A number by the orchestra will be a solo by G. A. Le. The Supreme Court justices upheld the decision of the lower court yesterday and ordered that Hornet pay his fine or serve 25 days in jail.

POWDER PUFFS NOT TO BE BRUSHES

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—That wooden powder puffs are not to be regarded as "brushes" is the decision that has been reached by the Board of United States Customs in disposing of the protest case of McKesson & Robbins and others of New York.

Collector Foster decides that the powder puffs should be considered for the purpose of duty as manufactured goods, with duty at the rate of 30 cents per pound and 30 per cent ad valorem. The importers made objections to this rate and set up the contention that the merchandise should be regarded as coming under the tariff provision for brushes with a tax of only 40 per cent.

RIOT IN RESTAURANT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Ten men, Basely, 124 M. - Electrical Experts employed by large stockholders in the Burlingame Telegraphing Typewriter Co. to examine and report on the invention

No court in the land would discount the testimony of witnesses like these experts who have furnished signed statements expressing their opinions.

Can you afford to shut your eyes and close your mind against what they say?

The field for the Burlingame Telegraphing Typewriter is beyond the conception of man. The number of machines that will be required, the future size of the Company, the amount its shares will be worth, the money its original investors will make, the dividends that will be paid, cannot be calculated.

Come and see this wonderful machine.

A Sweeping Republican Victory Is Foregone.

A few faint-hearted Republicans and some malcontents of no certain political bias are shaking their heads over the prospect of a Republican victory. They see grave portent in the attitude of a few churchmen who object to the Republican nominee because he is a Unitarian; they think Foraker's friends will resent that gentleman's elimination from public life; they fear the Brownsville affair, and they are dubious about the President's butting in. They palpably seek reasons to justify their hope of disaster.

The facts cannot but encourage reasonably optimistic men. The American people are still in the main sensible. It cannot possibly be seen where there is ground for belief that they will commit the blunder of putting this government under a control which has already been so entirely discredited. No considerable body of people has any honest confidence in it, or the man who is the figurehead of it.

The idea that the President's participation in the campaign is having the opposite effect from that intended is manifestly absurd. Who is there with any power of reasoning who can demonstrate where Bryan is to receive an increased vote because of the President's letters? There is no possible way of figuring an advantage thus to accrue to the Democracy.

One feature that is not much considered is the trend of old-line Democrats away from what stands for present-day Democracy. If Bryan is receiving new accessions to his ranks there must be more than an offset in the steady desertion of old-time members of the party. Then, Hissgen is cutting more of a swath than some people may think. And it is plain enough that his adherents are not coming from the Republican ranks. The Socialists will have an increased vote, which is a so to be recruited from other than Republican hosts.

Those to whom the campaign of 1896 is not too ancient history will remember that there was great fear of the result at that time. A fallacious theory in finance was sought to be fastened upon the country. A most disastrous period of depression was on. The empire found his opportunity in proposing a quack nostrum. He had a considerable public ear, too, for many openly held that things were in a bad way, and a change could not make them worse, while it might help. He was new to the people then, which was a decided advantage. But notwithstanding the favorable conditions the people rose to the occasion and vindicated their good sense.

The conditions now are not nearly so favorable to the great national mistake of putting a quack at the head of the government. There was a little financial flurry a year ago, but it is all over now, and prosperity is steadily increasing. The former contentions of the man who comes again asking power have all been shown to be fallacious, and some of them ridiculous. A new set of "policies" is now set up, but the same fakir is behind them, and it cannot be possible that the people of the land, so vitally interested in stable government and certainty in national policies, are to be caught by the same chaff that was scattered about them in 1896, and again in 1900.

Servia Clamorous for War.

The dispatches state that the Servians are furious for a war with Austria, and that the crown prince wants to lead an army against Emperor Francis Joseph's hosts. Servia is a fantastic nation whenever it is not a savage one, and its finish is likely to come with commendable promptness if it proves to be impossible for cooler heads to determine the course of national action.

The Servians are an ancient people, but the descendants of today are in the main little more than half-civilized. The country is without important resources, and the people are ground down by taxes to support an ornamental army, whose chief employment appears to be plotting and intriguing within itself. The atrocious murder of King Alexander and Queen Draga a couple of years ago was due to a military cabal and committed in person by high military officers, who have suffered no inconvenience therefrom, some of them even enjoying higher official favor than before. This tragedy was so infamous and horrifying as to put the country without the pale of first-class nations, which, with possibly the exception of Russia, have since omitted to maintain diplomatic relations with it.

The Servians largely follow pastoral pursuits, though the country is not very productive. The Obrenovich dynasty, which became extinct through the murder of Alexander, was founded less than a hundred years ago by a swineherd. The Karageorgievitch dynasty, restored through the accession of the present king, figures rather back in the country's history, and is not so ignoble; but the character of its reigning representative does not appear to be much higher than that of his predecessor. He is understood to have connived at the murder of the former king and queen, and occupies the throne now as the puppet of the army.

The young crown prince who is clamoring to lead an army against the Austrians is represented to be the limit, even for a Servian. There is no outrageous thing that he has not done or shown a willingness to do, even to murder. If he has not committed it is due to the intervention of his military bodyguard, which is over on the alert to prevent the consequences of his savage escapades. Servia is an independent kingdom, having gained its freedom from Turkish rule in 1817, through the leadership of the swineherd king referred to.

The efforts to make Nevada a convenient untangling place for matrimonial knots has received a setback in the decision of Judge J. H. Reno, to the effect that Virginia Harner cannot have a divorce while she waits. Surprises "come continual" from the sagebrush State. The Nevadans are getting to be regular sticklers.

More ample advice will be necessary to a complete understanding of that Philadelphia riot on Founders' Day, in which the memory of William Penn, apostle of peace, largely figured. The Philadelphia spirit has not heretofore been figured as riotous.

Somebody who is on the ground, presumably for the purpose of awarding "good stuff," sends word that "the Balkan war cloud is passing." It has to "pass" in order to gather again and furnish good stuff.

Hoke Smith is reported in the dispatches this morning as saying that "the old Cleveland forces are going to line up behind Bryan this year." Hoke should put his ear to the ground again for a more accurate hunch.

Henry dares Hissgen to "fight fair." His definition of what "fighting fair" is would be interesting to those who are able to find anything edifying in Henry.

The Third Political Sideshow Exhibits in California.

The Republicans of California have not yet found it really necessary to go campaigning. The situation is more favorable this year for a Republican victory than that of any Presidential campaign for many years. But the "sideshows," for some reason, consider California good campaigning ground. How they figure it is impossible to see, for the Democratic party has disappeared here more palpably than anywhere else, and there is less hospitality to the cold water crusade than in any other State. As to the Independence party, Mr. Hears is better known here than in any other part of the country; and Ichs did not make headway, notwithstanding the recognition he received from California's great institution of learning. "There is nothing to it," as the slang phrase goes, yet three of the sideshows have "made the circuit."

Mr. Hissgen held forth last night in San Francisco, being sponsored and preceded by Mr. Hearst. The latter gentleman injected local matters into his speech, which gave it zest. He broke a lance with Francis J. Heney, and the audience was divided. It gathered in expectation of seeing political fireworks, and saw them. How far the occasion advanced Hissgen toward the White House remains to be seen. But it certainly promoted the gaiety of a considerable crowd.

In the polemics of the sideshow candidates who have visited California the Republican party does not figure particularly. Consequently it is not hastened to those campaign efforts that have been held as a necessary part of electing a President. There may be a feeling that its meetings and orators will be too tame, when remembered by the side of the flamboyant efforts of the sideshows; but it is entirely likely the people are pretty well ready to hear something sane and sensible from the stump after what has gone before.

California and the whole Pacific Coast are well up in the Republican column, and no fear need be felt as to ultimate results; but this fact only accentuates the query why the sideshows all tour the State. It would seem to a normal person to be stony ground for Presidential candidates with isms or the single idea.

Heney is hearing a good deal of his own brand of thunder from Hearst. And it is not entirely without reference to himself.

RECEIVER EDOFF MAKES STATEMENT

Expects California Bank to Pay Depositors Between 70 and 80 Per Cent.

According to Receiver James P. Edoff, the California Bank will pay its creditors between seventy and eighty per cent of what is due them. The affairs of the bank will be wound up in a year.

Mr. Edoff appeared in Judge Harris' court late yesterday afternoon and asked to have his monthly report of the bank's financial affairs read. He showed that up-to-date $458,220 had been paid out by him to creditors. Judge Harris approved the account. In the course of the proceedings, Mr. Edoff took occasion to state what proportion of their money depositors would receive and when the bank's business could be closed by him.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 10.—John Quackenbush Packard, widower for over twenty years of the sixty of his life and who for sixteen years has been a saw mill man and laborer here, has fallen heir to $10,000.

But Packard was not surprised. He knew since a child that when his multimillionaire uncle, John Q. Packard, of Santa Cruz, Cal., died the will was to bequeath him a nameless legacy, but he did not expect quite that much. Packard, though he has got the wind-fall, says he will not quit work. He is going right on shoveling coal and will invest his money in real estate.

Yosemite Valley is now open Spring and Summer, Autumn and Winter and the recent rains have refreshed vegetation, laid the dust and purified the air, making conditions ideal. The foliage is beginning to fade in the autumn coloring and conditions in the park were never better and the tourist can make no mistake in visiting this beautiful valley. Considerable snow has fallen on the higher levels there, being four inches of snow at Glacier Point; this means that there will be a good supply of water in the falls until such time that the snow ceases to melt, which will be about the first of November.

Warden James Page of the Oakland Receiving Hospital was savagely attacked yesterday with a hatpin by Mrs. Mary E. Fenner. The woman was arrested upon complaint of her son, J. W. Fenner, who charged her with insanity.

Page took her by the arm and was about to lead her into one of the cells when she turned quickly about and thrust a long hatpin at him. He dodged and the point of the pin narrowly missed his eyes.

The combined strength of Page and Deputy Sheriff Stuart was required to subdue the woman. Her son alleges that she attempted to murder him with a penknife.

CLAIMS HUSBAND BEAT THE BABY

Alameda Woman Sues Furniture Dealer for Divorce on Ground of Cruelty.

Beating his two-month-old son was the practice of Albert J. Ernest, an Alameda furniture dealer, according to the testimony of his wife, Salla, who is suing him for divorce.

When his infant son cried Mrs. Ernest asserts that her husband picked it up roughly and began beating it, saying "I'll give you something to cry for." Mrs. Ernest, a friend, testified to a number of instances when he abused the infant, and said he one day explained that whippings were good for babies because it makes the blood circulate.

Numerous charges of cruelty are made against Ernest. He is alleged to have told his wife that he "hated" that she would live to be 100 years old so that he could curse her when he wanted to. He once ordered it to be alleged that he choked his wife until she was compelled to flee to the home of a friend. When she returned she said she found her husband calmly enjoying music from a phonograph.

Philomena's head in his pocket and came forth with five shining silver dollars, which so dazzled the eyes of the policeman that he released her. She then fled and the man made off up the street. Philomena followed and his cries of "Stop thief" attracted the attention of Police men Cameron and Clark, who arrested the woman and booked her at the city prison for petty larceny.

THE MEDDLER

THE attractive brides-elect of the season continue to be the motif for so much social entertainment that the October days continue to be busy and merry ones.

One of the large events of the week was the "at home" given by Miss Anita Thomson in honor of Miss Katherine Brown. It was one of the most perfect of October days—just the day for a large tea, and very few regrets were sent to the enthusiastic little hostess, who tried to plan a delightful reception for the bride-elect and her many friends.

The guest list was made up of the younger matrons and of the young girl friends of Miss Thomson and Miss Brown, and rare has there been gathered together so many attractive young people. The house was a beautiful bower of blooms, with striking decorations, making in every room a superb color scheme. Gorgeous chrysanthemums in yellow and white massed up with fine effect made a beautiful bower in which the young girls stood to receive their friends. It was very wedding-like—just the bower for a bride-elect—and the young girls made a picture altogether lovely as they stood together, the great nodding chrysanthemums making a wonderful frame for them. Youth is always lovely and to the loveliness was added a rare beauty and charm. Leaving hands had arranged for these two girls this beautiful bower, and one of the guests said softly, "the flowers seem to fall around them like a benediction."

Miss Brown and Miss Thomson look exceedingly well together, both are very tall and each represents a distinct type.

Miss Brown was beautifully gowned in a pale pink hat embroidered gown, the pale pink roses standing out from a lighter background, and American roses were worn in the corsage. Katherine Brown was a stunning and beautiful picture—a radiant and happy bride-elect.

Miss Anita Thomson was gowned in pale yellow, with yellow chrysanthemums in her hair and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Anita Thomson loves her friends and she is always at her best in her own home, when she can make them welcome in her own enthusiastic way.

The drawing room was a study in splendid chrysanthemums, arranged in a striking fashion, and in the library a splendid mass of tiger lilies struck a strong note of decoration, and the color scheme was carried out in pink chrysanthemums. The dining room showed autumn tones and there was a beautiful touch of sentiment about its fine arrangement.

It was a tribute from Mrs. Isaac Requa to her two young girl friends. She is always good to the girls she knows, and the beautiful table represented the work of her own hands.

All the friends of the Requa know what a beautiful picture the dining room at Highlands is on all festive occasions, and as no one can copy it, for one misses the artistic touch. The beautiful table was a charming picture, calling out the enthusiastic admiration of all the guests at the tea. The hall was in yellow and green, with picturesque palms and flowing asparagus fern, and here also the work of a loving heart and willing hands achieved an artistic picture, for the hall represented the work of one of our most talented young matrons. The receiving party included the young girls who are to be Miss Brown's attendants, and a few other very intimate friends of the hostess. The guests were also made welcome by Mrs. Frank Lamson Brown, Mrs. Arthur D. Thomson and Mrs. John P. Connors.

Mrs. Brown was a beautiful study in a lovely gown of lavender orchid tulle, the gown beautifully appliqued, and she wore lavender orchids in her hair.

An engagement is always romantic and adds a touch of enthusiasm to an "at home"—the touch which makes it a most successful tea. There were good wishes from everybody for the bride-elect, who was the guest of honor, and Marian Walsh and Lillie Reed each had receptions of their own, since both have recently announced their engagements.

Mrs. William de Fremery and Mrs. Arthur Crest were both in the receiving party, and both are charming young brides.

Mrs. Frank Havens also had a reception all on her own account, for every one took the opportunity of welcoming her home again. Mrs. Havens is always so genuinely helpful that her friends miss her greatly when she goes away. We could find it in our hearts to develop a pool sized case of jealousy whenever we think of Sacramento Harbor. The Frank Havens are at the Key Route Inn, awaiting the completion of the picturesque bungalow in which their friends are sure to have so many good times. For very few people are so truly generous to their friends as are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Havens.

Among the guests was Mrs. Harden Crawford, formerly Annie Gray, who is visiting her mother, a Level Lee. Mrs. Crawford has not been in California for many months now and her friends were glad of the opportunity of offering words of welcome.

Mrs. Churchill Taylor had a luncheon on Wednesday and after the luncheon hostess and guests adjourned to Miss Thomson's tea. Among the guests were Miss Sophie Van Sicken of Burlington, Vermont, who was Miss Thomson's schoolmate in New York.

The hours of the tea were from 3 until 5, but it was a late hour before the last of the guests made their adieu to the two young girls, to Miss Thomson, the delightful young hostess of the day, and Miss Brown, the radiant and beautiful bride-elect of the hour.

Among the young girls at the tea were May Coogan, Mollie Mathes, Ruth Kales, Rose Kales, Elsie Schilling, Madeline Gray, Christine English, Marian Walsh, Lily Barry, Sophie Van Sicken of Burlington, Jessie Cray, Carolyn and Edith Palminter, Gladys Maxwell, Charlotte Hall, Ruth Hall, Beatrice Simpson, Major Coogan, Jean Clark, Marian Eversen, Doris Eversen, Helen Durwin, Edith Beck, Beulah Fillmore, Irene Bares, Mary Downey Gertrude Motter, Jessie Reed, Lillie Reed, Miss Julia Richardson, Alice Albright, Laura Sanborn, Evelyn Hanson, Norma Castle, Florence Henshaw, Gladys English, Lucretia Mauville.

Among the beautiful gowns of the afternoon were those worn by Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. Mark Requa, Mrs. P. E. Bowles, Mrs. Frank Havens, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Oscar Luning, Mrs. Harold Havens, Mrs. Oscar P. Long, Mrs. William Williamson, Mrs. John P. Connors, Mrs. Chas. Taylor, Mrs. Max Tait, Mrs. Frederick Stolz, Miss Florence Brown, Miss Harriet Hall, Miss Emma Parler, Miss Alice Grimes, Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, Mrs. John Francis Smith, Mrs. J.

Richardson, Mrs. Harrison Gray, Mrs. Philip Gray, Mrs. Howard Gray, Mrs. Edward Gibson, Mrs. Fritz Van Sicken, Mrs. Edward de Lavena, Miss Louise Mahoney, Miss Emma Mahoney, Mrs. Sam Brock, Mrs. George Hamner, Miss Sallie Hampton, Mrs. Tracy Lor Bell, Mrs. Charles Lovell, Mrs. Harvey Lindsay, Mrs. Charles E. ## LUNCHEON AT SAN LORENZO.

The Misses Harriet and Gladys Meek are to be hostesses next Thursday afternoon at a luncheon to be given at their beautiful home near San Lorenzo. A luncheon in the country is always lovely, one may have it very different from city affairs. The Meeks have one of the most picturesque and one of the loveliest of all the suburban homes, and all through the year many friends of Mrs. Meek and her attractive daughters are made most welcome there.

The Misses Meek are entertaining in honor of Miss Doring of Santa Cruz, who is their guest and who was their schoolmate at Miss Ward's school. She is a delightful girl and has many school friends here who are always glad to meet her when she comes from Santa Cruz, and she is often the guest of her friend, Gladys Meek.

TO ENTERTAIN FOR GIRL FRIENDS.

Another hostess of next week is to be Mrs. Roland Letts O'Brien, who is planning to entertain for three of her young girl friends, for the three bride-elect who are such popular girls, for Miss Marian Walsh, Miss Katherine Brown and Miss May Perkins.

Mrs. Oliver is very generous to her young friends and plans many good times for them in her affable home on the hill. She is to entertain for the bride-elect on Friday, October 16th, and cards are to offer the entertainment of the afternoon as the young people are to play "Five hundred."

After all, there is a great deal of fun to be gotten out of "Five hundred." It is really so full of surprises that it is the very noblest game in the world, and at the end of a five hundred afternoon some of the guests are really not able to speak out loud.

Mrs. Oliver is asking for the most part the young friends of the three bride-elect, and her afternoon for them bids fair to represent one of the most delightful of the October dates.

CARDS IN HONOR OF MISS BROWN.

Miss Rose Kales has also sent out cards in honor of Miss Katherine Brown, and she will entertain for this popular bride-elect on the afternoon of October 20th. Miss Rose Kales is to be one of the bridemaids at the wedding of Thornton White and Katherine Brown, a wedding which promises to be one of the most elaborate historic St. Paul's has seen in many months.

Miss Kales is to entertain at cards and she will receive her guests at her home on Lake street. The young people always have a delightful time at the Kales home, for Mrs. Kales enters so fully into the young life of her daughters that their friends have happy hours in the picturesque home by the lake. Rose Kales is a most enthusiastic the young hostess, and her friends will have a charming afternoon at her happy card party given in honor of Katherine Brown.

So many complimentary affairs are given for Miss Brown by the girls who have known her all her life that these days before the wedding bring delightful reunions of young girls whose kindergarten and early school days were spent together—girls whose friendship began in childhood and has

MISS JOHNSON TO ENTERTAIN.

Miss Anne Johnson is also to entertain for Miss Katherine Brown, and she has set out cards for a luncheon on Saturday, October 24th.

Miss Johnson is also to be one of Miss Brown's bridesmaids at the November wedding, and the luncheon is her brideless compliment to Miss Brown.

Miss Johnson is entertaining at her home on Jackson street, in a large home which offers such lovely possibilities for entertaining.

Miss Anne and Miss Josephine Johnson are at Tahoe where they are spending some weeks, and be greatly missed from the party at Anita Thomson's tea. They are such bright members of the circle of girls who make up Miss Brown's choice friends that they are missed from the festivities which mark these days before the wedding.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER TODAY.

Miss Howard Elizabeth, one of the beautiful Oakland maidens, who is engaged to be married, was recently announced to Mr. Gus De Golla.

EVERYONE PLAYING GOOD BRIDGE.

Everyone is playing such a very good game of bridge this season that the card afternoon brings more than the usual degree of interest. Henry Rosenfeld was the hostess on Thursday, entertaining her friends at a most delightful afternoon of bridge. Mrs. Rosenfeld does more for people than most any other young matron of the social set. One finds in almost all the receiving parties and no one ever more unselfishly than she, for so one is forgotten no one is neglected when Mrs. Rosenfeld is in the receiving party. All through the winter there are luncheon and card parties, and the season was thus Mrs. Rosenfeld's friends greatly indebted to her for many good times.

Mrs. Rosenfeld entertained at her home on Eighth street and bridge was the game of the afternoon. There was a prize for each table, and, really, one could play one's best if the prize in sight was an artistic pair of silk stockings. The house was most attractive, all in tones of yellow, and the guests greatly enjoyed the delightful afternoon.

Among the good players were Mrs. George De Golla, Mrs. Allender, Mrs. Charles Lovell, Mrs. Gage, Mrs. Edward Walsh, Mrs. George Gross, Mrs. J. Loran Pease, Mrs. William H. Richardson, Mrs. Kroll, Miss Harriet Hall, Mrs. George Hamner, Mrs. Charles Parcells, Mrs. Edward Enns, Mrs. Proctor, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Frederick Morse, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Frank Deering, Mrs. Harold Havens, Mrs. Marian Walsh, Miss Clarissa Lohr, Mrs. Hugh Webster, Mrs. Willard Williamson, Mrs. Louisa Allender, Mrs. Minnie Goodall, Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. J. C. Hampton, Mrs. Albert Long, Mrs. Albert Long, Mrs. Frank Watson, Mrs. Miss Pemberton, Miss Avis Sterling, Miss Julia Richardson and Miss Anita Thomson.

ALL HAVING HOUSE MOTTOES.

Many of the Eastern country homes are following the English custom of having house mottoes, which one finds blazoned in the hall. One motto might be widely copied for its really good advice, for in a big hall in a grand old manor the stranger within the gates reads: "In waiting for the late guest, insult is offered to the punctual ones." On a Kentish castle, carved around a rose, is this: "Kentish, true blue, Fake this as a token. That what is said here Under the rose is spoken."

One hears that Mrs. Frank Havens will also have a motto for the new bungalow, the picturesque new home on the beautiful Piedmont hill slope.

SMITH-JANIN WEDDING.

A wedding of much interest to prominent families on both sides of the bay took place this week, the wedding of Miss Erwin Smith and Mr. Charles Henry Janin. The Smiths have had for many years one of the most attractive homes in the Clarendon district, where they have entertained extensively. The only daughter of the household is a very charming girl, very cultured and an exceedingly fine pianist. Mrs. Smith and her daughter have traveled extensively and that always adds much to a young girl's education.

The Janins have lived in Oakland for many years and the men of the family have always been among the most successful mining engineers of the coast. Mr. Charles Janin has fol-

It was all so gay and festive, the young people felt the holiday spirit in the air before the card party fairly began.

Fifty hundred was wisely chosen as the game of the evening, for young men are so busy nowadays that they have not time for bridge. It requires immense practice to be a good bridge player and a poor bridge player is really a subject for tears.

Fifty hundred is really a game for young people, it is so full of life and merrier and it is quite impossible to keep a crowd of young people serious and silent in the atmosphere befitting the scientific game of bridge. The card games were a great fun, and

DOUBLE MURDERER

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 10.—
BILL MCKEE, WHO SHOT AND KILLED DR. NATHANIEL KUNE AND RUDOLPH ALBERS DURING AN ALTERCATION OVER MINING PROPERTY NEAR DOBLE YES-TERDAY, COMPLETED THE TRAG-EDY BY BLOWING OFF HIS OWN

The body was found in his cabin this afternoon by Alvah Willard of this city, who broke into the cabin.
The coroner's jury, with three em-panelists, started last night for the scene, and will arrive late tomorrow afternoon. The isolation of McKee and the difficulty of receiving information over a mountain telephone led to the confusion of Kune's name with that of Dr. Combs. Albers and Kune left Los Angeles together to serve a summons on McKee in a suit brought here by Kune to question McKee's title to mining claims long owned by McKee. Albers has a relative, Lew

KANKAKEE, Ill., Oct. 10.—Private Joseph R. Klein, Company A,
First regiment, Illinois National Guard, of Chicago, was indicted yesterday by the Kankakee grand jury on the charge of murder as the result of stabbing of Earl Nelson, 18 years old, of this city, by Klein, on August 15.

Klein was one of the guards on a baggage car which Nelson and a number of companions boarded when the train conveying the regiment to Springfield during the recent riots, stopped at the Kankakee station of the Illinois Central. Klein ordered the boys of the car platform.
All complied except Nelson, who said something. In answer, then ordered to swing off the car step,
the train having started by the meantime.
Either to hurry the boy, or angered at his remarks, Klein removed his bayonet from his scabbard, and, using it as a dagger, struck Nelson in the back, the bayonet penetrating the lung. Nelson jumped off the car and screamed to a nearby watchman's shanty, where he died ten minutes later.

New Party's Chairman Invites Ques-

NEW PROOF OF OIL TAIN
HIT SIBLEY AND McLAURIN

By Edward H. Hamilton

SAN FRANCISCO last night gave Thomas L. Hisgen, a glorious welcome and William Randolph Hearst a triumph.

More people were turned away from the Central Theatre than have attended all the meetings of all the parties up to date, and the big theatre was jammed with a crowd that throbbed and pulsated with excitement and enthusiasm.

There was good fighting at that meeting—fighting with the red blood in it, where one man faces and overcomes a mob.

BURNS MARSHALS MOB OF DISTURBERS.

Men of the lower orders of decency and intelligence had been urged to go to the meeting by promises of money, and were marshaled there by William J. Burns and his hired plug-uglies, called private detective in the hope that they could incite a riot and discredit the speakers.

They were armed with questions concerning matters of local interest, and obviously it was hoped these would embarrass Mr.
Hearst and detract from the effect of the Independence party leader's appearance and utterances.

But the bravos and hired questioners met with two surprises—first in the temper of the crowd, which would have ejected them from the hall at a word from one of the speakers, and second in the eagerness with which Mr. Hearst jumped into the fray.

His fighting qualities and pugnacious spirit were new to San Francisco. The people here have been told all these years by those whose inability to rival him has gangrened them with envy, that he was a rich young noodle whose editorials and speeches were all prepared for him by men in his employ.

But suddenly there was a Hearst disproving all this in half an hour of the fiercest kind of give and take—always the master of himself, his subject and his audience. He invited assault and welcomed attack. And he fought back with the quickness of a trained intellectual swordsman, running through one question after another until the astonished and delighted crowd roared down the last of the bravos, and gave the forensic champion the well-rewarded of their plaudits and their praise.

TRIUMPHS OVER ALL HIS OPPONENTS.

The crowd had come with the notion that Hearst was to be baited, put out of countenance and perhaps driven from the stage.
Instead they saw and heard him triumph over one opponent by humor, another by argument, a third by wit and others by stern denunciation.

And they heard him declare himself flatly on local issues.
There was no evasion, no retreat, no toying with words.
"The Examiner" is in favor of the prosecution, but not in favor of some of the prosecutors," thundered the speaker when asked to define this party's attitude concerning current events.

TOO LITTLE PROSECUTION; TOO MUCH POLITICS.

"If it had not been for 'The Examiner' there would have been no prosecution," said Mr. Hearst in the line of his argument; and "They have granted immunity to everybody they could have convicted in the attack on their personal enemies," was one of his reasons for his stand. "There has been too little prosecution and too much politics."

And when asked about Mr. Heney, who has been roaring and debating the fiery sinner, who publicly challenged Mr. Hearst to eater merely took up Mr. Heney and shook him in the presence of the crowd until it was almost impossible to hear those Contra Costa Water Company dollars jingling on the floor as they fell out of his pockets.

The Address wound up Heney and wound up with him, and then came the applause, the ringing cheers and the hearty congratulations.

Hearst had fought his way into the favor of the mighty throng and San Francisco was glad to applaud a San Franciscan who was not afraid to take any gage of battle in the face of any foe.

Here's about the way things came—for the most part—slay-dash and bang, bang! Mr. Hearst had made his plea for the Independence party, and had arraigned the Democratic and Republican parties for their subservience to the self-seeking corporations. He had read a letter showing Congressman Sibley of Pennsylvania, and a Standard Oil to another convicting Senator McLaurin.

PLANNED TO HOLD UP WOMAN

HIGHWAYMEN BUSY
IN REDWOOD CANYON

Two Masked Men Stop Buggy
of Mrs. M. Anderson But,
Finding Hired Man in it,
Orders Him to Drive On.

What is believed to have been a premeditated attempt to hold up Mrs.
M. Anderson, owner of a large ranch in Redwood Canyon, was perpetrated last night on her hired man by two masked men who stopped the horse-drawn buggy and, at the point of their pistols, commanded him to hold up his hands.

"That's her buggy, but she's not in it," said one of the men, and Mrs.
Anderson's man was ordered to drive on. No attempt was made to rob him.

NOTIFIED SHERIFF.

Mrs. Anderson telephoned the hold-up to the sheriff's office today, and Sheriff Barnett began an immediate investigation. At yet the attempt is a mystery.

Mrs. Anderson knows no reason, except robbery, why any one should want to hold her up, and that the motive was not robbery seems apparent from the fact that no attempt was made to rob the man who was in the buggy.

BOTH WERE MASKED.

The attempt was made shortly after dark. Two men jumped out from behind a tree in a dark part of the Redwood road. One of them seized the reigns of the horse while the other went to attend to the occupant of the buggy. Both men wore black masks. The one who did not hold the horse looked into the buggy, satisfied himself that Mrs. Anderson was not there, and reported to his companion. The latter let go of the horse, and both swiftly disappeared.

Mrs. Anderson's husband, who died a year ago, was held up by two men near the same spot a short time before his death, and robbed.

SIX INJURED IN AUTO WRECK

STREET CAR HURLS BIG MACHINE INTO GUTTER

Tossed Along Track for Fifty Feet Before It Is Thrown From Rails Against Street
Curbing.

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Six persons were injured last night when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a west-bound Ogden-avenue car at California avenue crossing. The heavy machine skidded along the tracks for fifty feet before it was hurled with terrific force against the curbing. The street car was crowded at the time, but none of the passengers were injured.

The injured in the auto were:
FIGHT HUGHES, 62 years old, building contractor, bruised about the body and left eye hurt.

MRS. SARAH HUGHES, 34 years old, injured about head and arm.

MRS. H. P. HUGHES, left eye injured and badly shaken.

MISS GRACE HUGHES, 22 years old, left eye hurt and bruised about body.

MRS. NELLIE C. HENCKLEY, 4 years old, New York, slightly injured about head and body.

Mrs. Anderson wants Sheriff Barnett to appoint her a deputy sheriff. She made application today, saying that her husband was in danger, and that she wanted to be allowed to carry a revolver with which to defend herself.
Sheriff Barnett said he could not appoint her, as the law did not permit it, but he promised to appoint one of her male neighbors.

YOUNG GIRL WAYLAIN IN DARK

FIEND TAKES FLIGHT:
SUSPECT IS CAUGHT

Fifteen-Year-Old School Girl Is Attacked After Having Been Followed by Stranger
But Fights Him Off.

(Special to The Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Waylaid while crossing a lonely lot in the darkness of the early evening at 2 o'clock tonight, Annie Holman, a 15-year-old school girl, residing at 699 Rhode Island street, was attacked by a strange man who followed her for some distance, and declared to throw her to the ground.
She fought with him and called for help, and the struggle ended for fully three minutes, when the approach of police brought the fiend to his senses. He was arrested, but he would not give his name, only to be later captured and recognized by his would-be victim.

ATTACKED SUDDENLY.

According to the story told by the young girl, the assault upon her was so sudden and sudden that she scarcely knew what happened. "She could hear footsteps behind her as she was walking, and she felt as if she was being followed, and she was surprised at the sudden approach of her assailant. Had he not spoken she would probably have been taken at his word, but she called upon her mother when her father was home and he was off at any cost."

REACHED HER HOME.

After he had made his escape the girl succeeded in reaching her home, where she became overpowered with an attack of hysterics and was unable to give any evidence to tell the story to her mother.
When her father returned home the next morning he was reported to him, and Barnes and Richards were asked to make a search for the assailant. Shortly before midnight Alvin Calkins was arrested by his stick on Kansas street between Eleventh and Marquette, and on being taken to the girl's bedside, was identified and was then locked up at the Paterno police station.

New Party Leader Declares That He Is for Prosecution, but Not for Some Prosecutors

IN SCORN PINS HENEY TO RECORD

Pillory His Place,
Not Platform.

TOO MUCH POLITICS
MARS REFORM WORK

MR. HEARST'S speech last evening was in full as follows:

My friends: The contention of the Independence party is that the government of the country is in the power of the privileged and privileged interests, and that both of the old parties have been so thoroughly debauched by these corrupt interests that the country cannot hope to secure relief or reform through the old parties. "If a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand." The progressive or reform elements of the nation are divided against themselves, and as long as they are so divided they will not prevail.

These reform elements are divided into two factions, the Republican faction and the Democratic faction. These two factions are set to fighting each other in every campaign in a way so childish and so destructive of their own welfare and their own objects that it seems hardly possible in this enlightened age.

SELFISH INTERESTS SYNDICATED.

The reactionary elements are, of course, united. The selfish interests are syndicated. They allow no petty political prejudices to interfere with their business. Their business is to get the votes to secure control of the people's representatives and obtain the privileges they seek.

The rogues and reactionaries are united in a formidable force. The object of the Independence party is to unite all patriotic and progressive citizens in a more formidable force. The rogues and reactionaries are not in a majority in this country. They win because they are united.

The patriotic and progressive citizens are in a majority in this country. They will win when they are united. But they will not win any considerable advantage until they are united.

POLITICS FAVOR SPECIAL INTERESTS.

The trend of the last forty years in American politics has been against the citizens and in favor of the special interests. The privilege-seeking corporations have received ever greater privileges. The trusts have grown ever stronger. The Government of the country has drifted more and more out of the hands of the people and more and more into the hands of these corrupt and corrupting interests. This trend has existed through the Democratic and Republican administrations alike. Some statesmen have made spasmodic efforts to halt this trend, but their efforts have largely failed, and the reason they have failed is because the selfish interests have been united and the citizens have been divided.

The great corrupt and sometimes criminal interests have at least demonstrated to the practical politician that they are powerful and nonpartisan. They protect their friends and punish their enemies. It is a prime essential that the people should know themselves equally powerful and equally nonpartisan, equally able and equally determined to protect their friends and punish their enemies.

SIBLEY A MONUMENTAL EXAMPLE

The Hon. Joseph C. Sibley is a living moving monument to the corruption in support and powerful protection of the great industrial corporations, the Standard Oil. Mr. Sibley was sent to Congress as a representative from Pennsylvania. Let not of Pennsylvania. He represents nothing but the Standard Oil. He is a hunting dog in the halls of Congress for the corrupting corporation. He noses out the lobbyists for news for his master. He is a retriever of news and of votes. He paws while Archibald shoots and he retrieves the game and he brings the game to his master's feet.

Mr. Sibley has been both Democratic and Republican, and he is willing to be either as his service requires. He is a shining example of the corruption in politics. He will wear any political livery and answer any political demand. He is elected to Congress by the Standard Oil in opposition to a man named Henry who had fought the Standard Oil.

EMERY FOUGHT OIL TRUST

Emery fought the Standard Oil trust. He was a man who honestly tried to do his duty to his fellow citizens but the Standard Oil overwhelmed him. It beat him back in heart and in pocket. It elected Sibley to Congress in his stead and nailed poor Emery's hide to their barn door as a warning to other honest men and patriots.

It was eight years ago that the Standard Oil first examined Mr. Sibley's references and decided to engage him. He had been recommended as willing and obliging to the corporations, faithful and respectful to his superiors and ready to do any kind of work, no matter how menial, in the compensation was sufficient.

ARCHBOLD PLEADS FOR SIBLEY.

So Mr. Archibald wrote to Mr. Cassatt about him, and here is the letter:

26 Broadway September 6 1908

Personal

Dear Mr. Cassatt: In Mr. Patton's absence, I venture to write you on a political question which seems to me of real importance and interest.

In the Twenty-seventh Congressional district, L. Emery Jr. the old-time agitator is running for Congress against J. C. Sibley of Franklin. Sibley has had a long career, rather a variegated political career, but he is now again squarely in the Republican fold and I think sound in every way.

Emery's election would certainly be a great misfortune, and I venture to say that you do everything possible in the matter in Mr. Sibley's favor, on the score, I think, that if corporate and vested interests will have full consideration of his hands. With kind regards, I am, very truly yours,

SIBLEY AN EXCELLENT INVESTMENT

By this letter, I suggest that Mr. Archibald, after looking over Mr. Sibley's record, come to the conclusion that he was sound in every way. And Mr. Sibley, by a long and honorable career, has proved that he is sound in mind and body, and that he is a well-battled and well-kept game. Let us for my first consideration.

With a few considerations, Mr. Sibley is a well-kept game. Let us for my first consideration. With a few considerations, Mr. Sibley is a well-kept game. Let us for my first consideration.

I read in the Press a letter from Mr. Sibley to a publican spying and reporting on President Roosevelt. I shall now read one from Senator McLaughlin to a Democrat.

Dennettsville, S. C. September 30, 1908

Confidential

Dear Mr. Archibald: In the same mail by which your letter came was one that I wish to quote a few sentences from apropos of your remarks about Mr. R. The writer of that letter was employed in a confidential way by Senator Hanna in matters of importance.

He is a shrewd, close observer, not over scrupulous, but a very intelligent man whose public experience and acquaintance is wide.

I knew him well in Washington, and when he saw my article in the Sun, he wrote me a long letter indulging in some unexpected criticisms of the President, to which I replied, committing his position.

He says in part: "Reading on Sunday, I was so fascinated by the article in the Sun, that I could not help but write you a long letter. I am sure that you will find it of interest. I am sure that you will find it of interest. I am sure that you will find it of interest."

I thought it might be a friendly act to copy this and send it to you in strict confidence. I am sure that you will find it of interest. I am sure that you will find it of interest. I am sure that you will find it of interest.

A VOICE—Why is the San Francisco "Examiner" again attacking the Standard Oil Trust?

MR. HEARST—I thank you, because I am glad to answer the question. "The Examiner" is in favor of prosecution, but not in favor of some of the prosecutors. There would never have been any prosecution if it had not been for "The Examiner." "The Examiner" exposed Schmitz and his administration and was attacked by the Supervisors and denounced by the Call. Or doing it, I am now going to read an editorial from the Call of May 31, 1906, complaining of "The Examiner" for finally exposing Schmitz.

The position of certain quarters to attack the municipal administration on all sorts of pretexts and to charge it with graft and treason to the people, which first appeared some days ago, is becoming more pronounced. It has passed beyond the province of criticism and become a savage and almost daily flood of abuse. To one not living in San Francisco and therefore not in a position to see and judge for himself, it would appear from these venomous onslaughts that the administration had surrendered, body and breeches, to corporate control.

Well, if it has not, I never saw one that did. This is the Schmitz administration that the Call is referring to.

TOO MUCH POLITICS IN PROSECUTION

and certain corporations were in full command of municipal affairs and running public matters to suit their lives, without any opposition from the authorities. In fact, in the case of the Standard Oil, the corporation was in command of the city and the city was in command of the corporation. The corporation was in command of the city and the city was in command of the corporation.

The trouble and too much immunity to everybody that they could have converted to attempt to reach their personal enemies.

I favor prosecuting every guilty man to jail, including the prosecutors.

I have had a prosecution of my own in New York against thirty-two guilty men and they are in jail. Where is the single guilty man in jail here?

Hisgen, in Great Speech, Shows How Standard Oil Crushes Its Competitors

CANDIDATE DESCRIBES OWN FIGHT

Aroused Jealousy of Rockefeller.

TRUST SENDS AGENT WITH OFFER TO BUY

MR. HISGEN'S speech in full was as follows: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: I have had one ambition in my life; it has always been my desire to visit your great city, San Francisco. From what I have seen here to-night you are certainly a lively set of people.

I want to congratulate the city of San Francisco for having the character of business men that it possesses. I want to say to you that our hearts went out to you during your great affliction here at the time you had the earthquake, and it was rather doubtful way back there in the East whether or not your city would ever recover from the terrible loss it sustained.

But no one need have had fear whoever traveled through California and met the class of people who are here and know that it would only take a fortnight to build up the great city that was destroyed almost instantly.

THANKS SAN FRANCISCO VOTERS.

My friends, I am glad to see this great outpouring to-night, and I want to thank you most heartily for the reception, for the cordial greetings you have extended to me. I am no speaker; I am simply a plain ordinary business man. In fact, I had that brought home to me most forcibly right from the start. After I was nominated at Chicago by the Independence party for the highest office in the gift of the people—and I want to say that I consider it the greatest honor that can come to any man in this world—my friends back there in Massachusetts started out to give me a home-coming welcome for it was the first time in over a century, I believe, in that good old State that has a reputation for brains, beans and culture, that it had produced a real live candidate for the Presidency.

When my wife and I reached home we found some 25,000 people there to greet us, and after the welcome home speech was made I of course was called upon to make a speech. I do not believe I have improved any since that time, but I did the very best I could. After the speechmaking was over we held a sort of informal reception, and I was glad to greet my old friends and neighbors, and anyone else that wanted to grasp my hand.

REFERS TO OLD PARTIES FOR TALK.

Among the audience there was quite an elderly gentleman. He came up to me and grasped my hand very warmly, saying, "I have been a Republican all my life, I have voted for Lincoln, and I have never missed voting for a Republican President down to Theodore Roosevelt, but I am going to vote for you." Being a little curious to know why he had changed his political views so suddenly, I asked him, "Well," he said, "when you got up to make a speech you said you couldn't make a speech, and, by Jiminy, you told the truth." There is just one convert that I made that I know of.

My friends, if you want talk, talk, and nothing done I respectfully refer you to the candidates of the two older parties. They can talk to your satisfaction; they can get up and talk for hours and at the conclusion of the speech you don't know whether they are going or coming.

The people of this country, if I judge them rightly, don't want hair-splitting candidates. What they want are rail-splitters, they want action; they are getting tired of this twiddle-dee, twiddle-dum.

TAFT AND BRYAN: WHO IS WHO?

In fact, over in Chicago Mr. Bryan and Mr. Taft were together and I believe they must have winked the other eye at each other for when they got through you could not tell which one was the Democrat and which one the Republican.

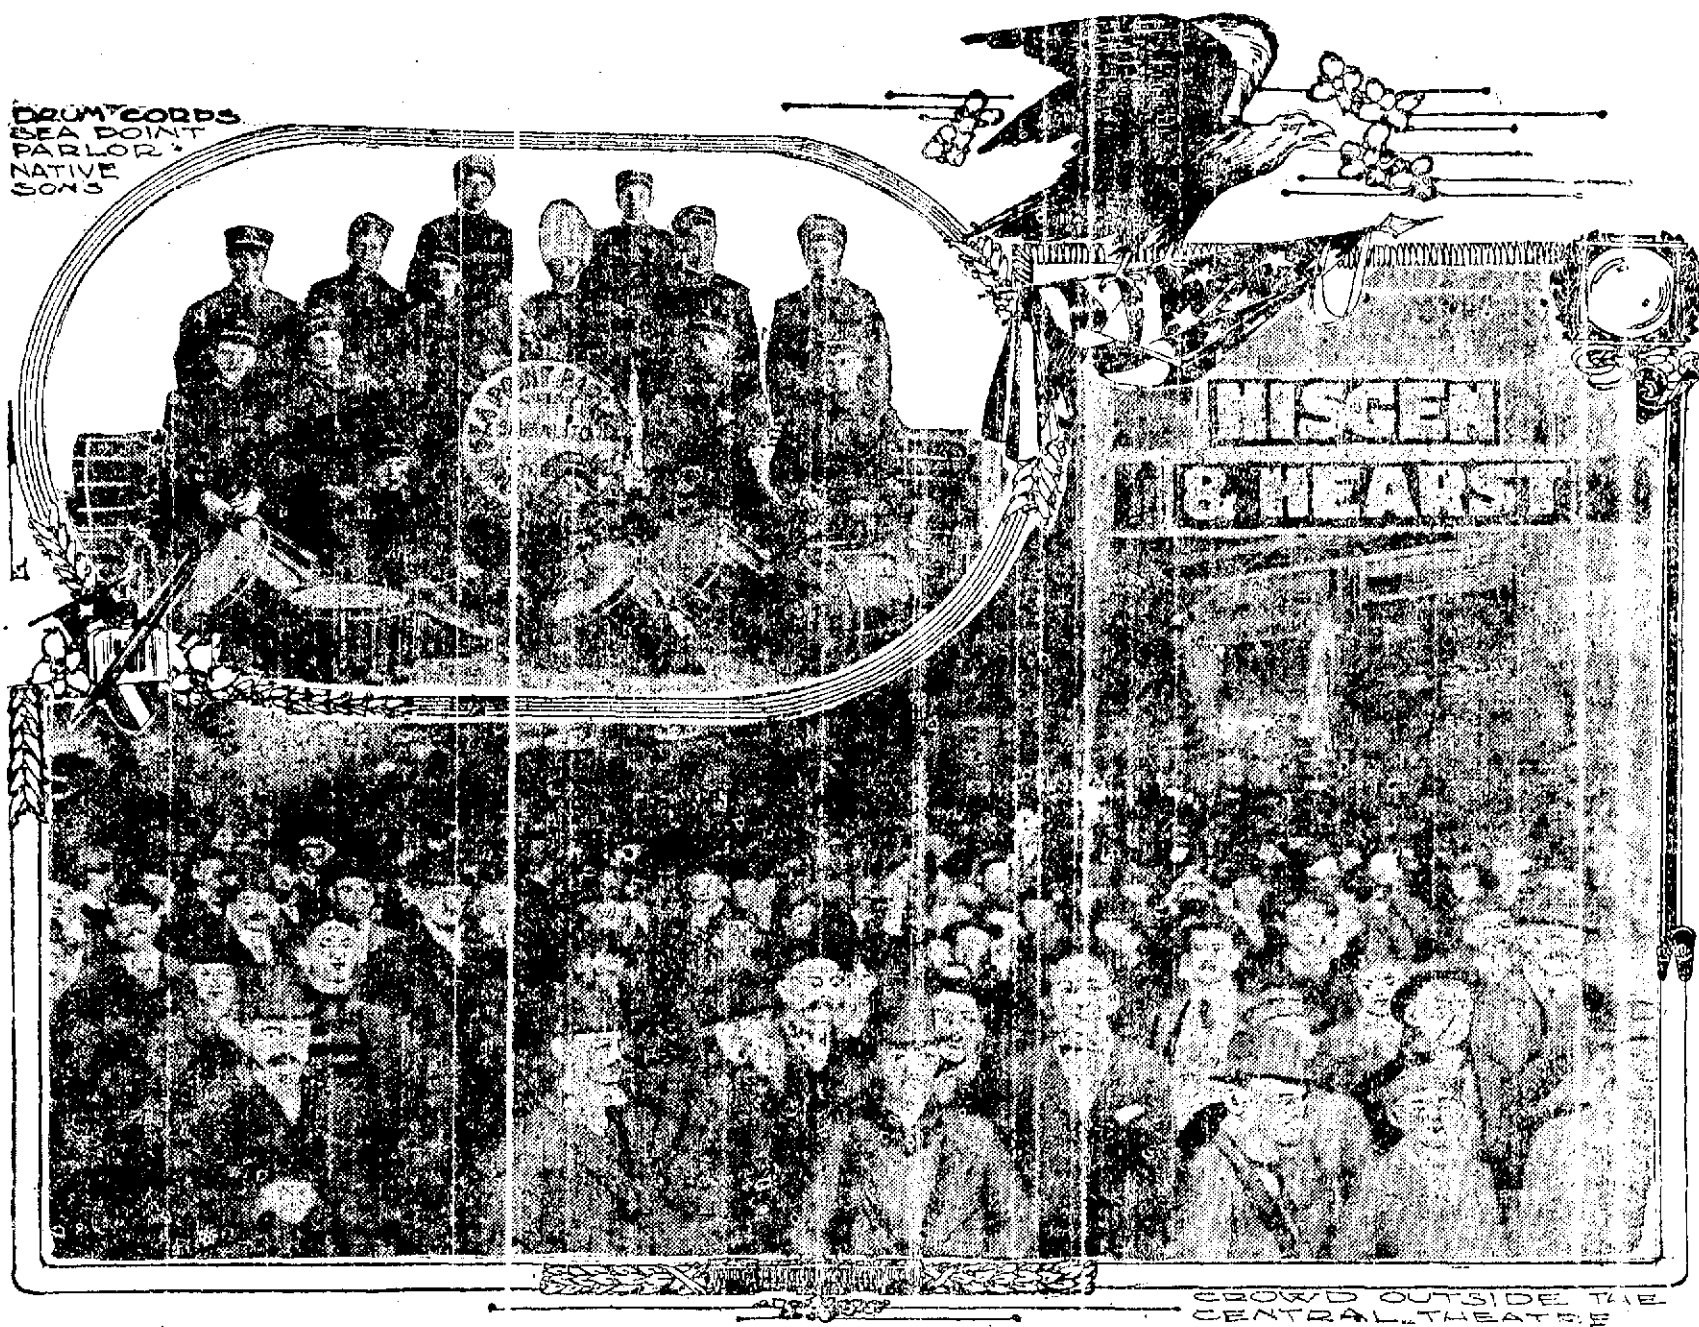

My friends, I am pleased to be in California. I want to say that I have traveled from ocean to ocean and we have been received like this throughout the length and breadth of our land. The people have come out knowing that they would hear something.

I want to impress this fact on your minds, I believe that this whole country owes a debt of gratitude to your fellow-citizen, William Randolph Hearst. Mr. Hearst has proven to the world how the Standard Oil Company controlled the policies of this country; and I will tell you, on the other hand, how they crushed out competition, raised the prices, and robbed every one of you.

I believe that a little history of the candidate of this new party would not be out of place here to-night. I was born in the State of Indiana. I have discovered, since I have been a candidate, that it is a very nice thing to be born in one State and to live in another; you can draw from both. And the Convention must have known another nice thing about me—that I am half Irish and half German. All those things help some, you know.

I come from a large family—six boys and five girls. A good old-fashioned family that you seldom see at the present time; the cost of living now is so high that we can't afford them. As we boys came along there was very little outlook there in our town, and father and mother drew back to where they were married.

Directly after that I secured a position in a store as a salesman. A little while after that the boys as they grew up joined me in this same store; we worked together there very nicely, earned good pay, attended to our business, and finally, after working seven or eight years for other people, we thought we would like to go into business for ourselves.

We had the ambition and the desire to leave our own fortunes, to go out in the world and make a name for ourselves. We had the same ambition that you have had and that your sons will have if they have the right kind of stuff in them. Father knew how to make axle-grease. We had made several tests of it and found it to be a most excellent article. Then we finally concluded to go into business for ourselves.

FIRE WRECKS FIRST HOPE.

We saved our money, and when we had accumulated $500 we started in the business of manufacturing axle-grease. Soon our place caught fire and we lost everything we had. Then it was a question as to whether we should continue in the axle-grease business or go back and work for other people.

Well, we concluded to stay in the business, notwithstanding we didn't have a dollar between us. But we had a few personal effects; one of the boys had a diamond ring; another had a diamond pin; I was possessed of a certain violin. I have seen the time when a dollar looked big to me, but I never saw the time when $5,000 would buy that violin.

We gathered those personal effects together and we took them down to an uncle of ours, to a place where they had three balls hanging out in front, and after a heart-to-heart talk with this hard-fisted uncle of ours he gave us $95 to commence all over again. Then we couldn't place our product in the stores and wait thirty and sixty days' time, but we did the very next best thing. We got out in the early morning, at 2 or 3 o'clock, and sold and peddled our grease to the farmers that came in from twenty miles around.

AROUSE JEALOUSIES OF STANDARD.

We then went right straight along, and it was not a great while after that before we moved into our second place; that was in 1895. In 1898 we bought and equipped the largest axle-grease factory in the world.

It was then we got into trouble; the Standard Oil Company saw that we were making money, saw us grow from a little bit of a concern to what we then were, and we were using a large quantity of oil in the manufacture of this grease, but we were not buying it of the Standard Oil Company.

They did what they always do; they sent their agent to us and offered us a price for the business. And the price was large enough. That price, I we had accepted, would have kept myself and brother for the longest day of our lives in our simple way of living.

But there was another side of the story. We had created this business, we had made sacrifices for this business; we had lived almost on the bare necessities of life in order to build this business. We were proud of the factory we had built; it was making us money. Why should we want to dispose of it? And another thing, we hope at some time to hand that business down to our children.

OIL TRUST ISSUES CURT WARNING.

An underlying sentiment that prevailed in our mind was, we thought, notwithstanding the great power of the Standard Oil Company, that we had a right to exercise our God-given right to conduct our business as we saw fit. When we refused this offer of the Standard Oil Company it made them mad, and they told us to look out for ourselves.

I want to stop here for a moment to give you an idea of what we may expect when the older Rockefeller passes away—that is, if the wicked ever die—and when his son takes his place. He has given us a new creed; he has given us a new law in the commercial world. He addressed the students of the Brown University some few years ago, and in defending the methods of the Standard Oil Company he brought in as an illustration an American beauty rose.

You know the American beauty rose is only brought to its perfection by killing all of the buds on the stem, with the exception of the one on top; in other words, there are 1,000 buds on a stem, and 999 of those buds must be killed in order that this flower, the American beauty rose, can blossom out in all of its perfection.

My friends, it meant that out of every thousand, 999 small business men had to be killed—crushed—in order that this great octopus could go on and make 1000 per cent on every dollar's worth of business that it did.

METHODS EMPLOYED BY TRUST.

We were one of those buds that had to be cut from the stem; we had defied them, we had refused their money, and they proceeded to put us out of business in the quickest possible manner. They would go into a store where the merchant was handling our product and would tell that merchant frankly, "You can't handle that product and our oil—we sell you both, or not at all."

The man sold more oil than he did axle-grease, consequently he dropped our axle-grease and handled both of the Standard Oil Company's products. These reports came to us. We found our trade falling off. I thank the Lord that there is Irish blood in my veins, for, in the language of Pat Dooley, they are the only people in the world who can raise a row without a cause.

We held another council between us; something had to be done. So we decided that if we were going to be whipped and driven out we would make it cost the Standard Oil Company as much as possible, and we then and there decided to go into the kerosene business. We started our wagons in Albany.

STANDARD BEGINS TO SLASH PRICES.

The Standard Oil Company commenced cutting and slashing prices in Albany. We held our own. During this time we heard of a little bit of an independent concern over in Springfield that had the life almost knocked out of it; it was ready to give up the ghost; it couldn't continue the fight any longer. And out of sympathy for the little man over in Springfield, I went over and saw him and took his business off of his hands; in other words, I took his fight off of his hands.

We proceeded there and then to go into the wholesale business in Springfield. This little man was an oil peddler, peddling from house to house; and now, gentlemen, I am coming to the part of my story that I want to sink into your hearts.

We live in a great beloved country. This is the land of opportunity. I want to call your attention to this fact, that there is no opportunity when you come in contact with this remorseless trust.

The agent of the Standard Oil Company in Springfield came into our office and said to me: "I am authorized by the powers that be at 26 Broadway to say to you that if you dare to wholesale oil in the city of Springfield we will put the price where you can't meet it and we will drive you out of this town; if we cannot sell the oil we will

I looked at him and said: "I am fully aware of the power and the money that you represent; I am fully aware of the thousand financial wrecks that the Standard Oil Company has caused; one only has to oppose the Standard Oil Company to have its wrath directed against him, and once they pick out a victim it's all over. I have seen busy mills and refineries turned to dust; I have seen rivals blown out into the highways; I have seen hearts break, strong men go mad or commit suicide or surrender their property and their person to this remorseless trust; but I want you to carry this message back to 26 Broadway: I was born in the State of Indiana, not very far from the State of Missouri, and you have got to show us."

At that time oil in that town was selling at 12 1/2 cents; in less than two weeks it was down to 9 cents; then a sliding scale, 8 1/2 cents, 8 1/4, 7. We followed it down to 7 1/2 cents and that is where we had to stop. I thought they had us whipped and they thought so, too.

It was the first time in the history of the Standard Oil Company they had a thorn in their flesh they could not scratch out. When they could not crush us out that way, when they could not buy our trade, something else happened; in fact, it happened fast. The place that we refused to sell in Albany was set on fire. Now, I am not making any accusation, but there isn't a man, woman or child in the city of Albany who didn't place that crime where it belonged.

TAKES PUBLIC INTO CONFIDENCE.

But there was just one more effort that we were going to make; in fact, before I made this effort I telephoned my wife to get the children ready, that perhaps by this time to-morrow we would not have a customer in town, that the Standard Oil Company had lowered the price less than we could meet, and unless the people stood by us there was nothing left for us to do but to lock up our tanks and go back to Albany; but I was going to try, I was going to make a last effort and if that failed we would quit.

And I did make the effort of my life; in fact, I took the public into my confidence. I gave them a hand in the fight that I was putting up alone. And I want to say here that whenever you are right and take the public into your confidence and let them have a hand in the fight, you are going to win every time.

I made an appeal to every customer that we had; I told them that we had made a good, honest fight, that the Standard Oil Company had lowered the price to less than we could afford to sell for; in fact, had already gone too low to make a profit, but yet if the people would stand by us we would still continue the fight, but if they accepted the lower price of the Standard Oil Company there was nothing for us to do but to go; it was for them to say whether we would stay or whether we would go.

"HISGEN, WE WILL STAND BY YOU."

While the Standard Oil Company had two-thirds of all the money in this world, they haven't got it all yet and they haven't got enough to buy one hair in my head. And to the honor and glory of that old Bay State which I am proud to represent and proud to be a citizen of, and to the honor and glory of those men back there, they said: "Hisgen, go ahead we will stand by you, no matter whether they give us oil; we won't take it."

It was the first time in the history of the Standard Oil Company they had a thorn in their flesh they could not scratch out. When they could not crush us out that way, when they could not buy our trade, something else happened; in fact, it happened fast. The place that we refused to sell in Albany was set on fire. Now, I am not making any accusation, but there isn't a man, woman or child in the city of Albany who didn't place that crime where it belonged.

I want to remind you of a book that is published, "Wealth vs. Commonwealth," by Henry D. Lloyd, a man of wealth, a man of influence, and I want you to turn to one of the chapters there, where he has taken from the courtroom of Buffalo, where the Standard Oil Company's agent was indicted and sentenced to the penitentiary for doing the same thing.

Oil is turned into the streets. A little while after that I went to Springfield and when I got there I found that someone had crept in during the dark hours of the night and broken the locks of our tanks and let 10,000 gallons of oil flow in the streets.

My friends, with the Standard Oil Company crime is cheaper than competition. And all this time the price of oil was going down. It went down from 7 cents, as I told you before, to 6 1/2 cents, to 6, to 4, to 3, and to 2, and finally they offered the oil for nothing, but yet our trade stood by us, and to-day we are marketing oil in our territory, we are selling it there so that it can be sold again to the consumer for 10 cents a gallon. Are you buying it for that? I guess not.

And, my friends, we are making a good honest living, and at the same time we are saving the people—every man, every family that burns kerosene oil—a quarter of a million dollars every year. We have the satisfaction of knowing that we are saving the poor man, because kerosene oil is the poor man's light; the rich have their electric light, they have the gas light, but the poor man must burn kerosene oil or go without; we have the satisfaction of knowing that we are making and delivering the oil from house to house at a price that pays us; it pays everybody that handles it, and we save the people that amount of money. That is something that we are proud of.

COMP. RES RECORD TO OPPONENTS.

I am willing to put this humble achievement alongside of anything that Mr. Bryan or Mr. Taft has done.

I ask you, what has Mr. Taft done? Quoting from Mr. Hearst's speech, he is nothing more than a great big, good-natured messenger boy for the man in the White House. He was appointed a Judge by a President; he was appointed a governor by a President; he was appointed a cabinet officer by a President; and there is a very strong suspicion throughout the country he was appointed a candidate by a President.

As for Mr. Bryan, what has he done? You take fame as an orator, and what has he left? What has he ever won for your sake? Politics have made him money. Anyone who dares to offer opposition to the Standard Oil Company for the benefit of the people must be an independent man in business as well as in politics; that man runs the risk of having the beds taken out from under his children.

I have been an admirer of Mr. Bryan; in fact, I voted for Mr. Bryan in 1896, because the Standard Oil Company did not vote for him, did not support him at that time. I voted for him in 1900 because the Standard Oil Company did not support him at that time.

FINDS TRUST OWNS BOTH PARTIES.

But in 1904 the Democratic party nominated a man who is now the attorney for the Standard Oil Company; but I have the satisfaction of saying I didn't vote for him. I am no politician, but I have always tried to find out in my humble way which the Standard Oil Company supported. If they supported a Republican, I voted for a Democrat. If they supported a Democrat, I voted a Republican ticket. And when I found that it controlled both old parties, I didn't vote at all.

My friends, that is why I am an Independence Party man. That is why I have laid down a profitable business to come and see you, over 3,000 miles, to tell you my story; to tell you that something must be done. And no one can accuse us—can accuse me, either—of having any selfish motive in this respect. And when you find one of your citizens spending his time, his money and his great influence with a chain of newspapers where he could, and where every 99 out of 100 born in the same position he has been born in would associate with the crowned heads of Europe and be fixed in here with the swells of America—you want to be grateful to him. I want to tell you this one solitary statement, that it matters not whether victory crowns our effort this year or next, this fight will be kept up as long as there is breath in our bodies.

SPEAK TO THE LABORING CLASSES.

I want to say just a word to the laboring classes. In fact, I come from that class of people; I come from the humble people, and I don't forget where I come from. The men who labor for us, the men whom we employ, they are just as well as we; as any banker or merchant that comes to my house. Their children and my children go to the same school together. We associate together. The man that works for Hisgen Brothers is

The engagement of Miss Charlotte Kent, daughter of Major and Mrs. L. A. Kent of Alameda, with Representative George C. Sturgess of West Virginia, recently announced, was not

Following close on the announcement of the completion of the subway entrance on Powell street, the management of the Fairmont now springs another surprise which will be greatly appreciated. This is the inauguration of the "afternoon tea service in the Laurel court." From 3:30 to 5 every afternoon, beginning October 15th, a special menu with special service will be given. A musical program will be given each afternoon during those hours. It is the intention of the Fairmont to make this one of the distinctive features of the winter. In the Carlton Hotel, London, the afternoon tea is one of the events of the day, and always brings out a crowd of fashionable people. In the Waldorf-Astoria in New York the afternoon tea is featured almost as prominently as the dinner itself. The Astor Hotel in New York also makes a feature of this in the "Orangerie," where a service similar to the one to be inaugurated at the Fairmont is rendered. It is safe to predict an immediate popularity for this, as at present there is no place where a lady can take her friends. The conduct of this new department is under Victor Ruter, maitre d'hôtel, and will be on the same scale as everything Winston Churchill will not be able to give the Burlingtons a well sartorial pointers, if he comes to California in November, as is expected. Judging by his wedding coat, which was so fearfully roasted by the editor of that authority on male modes, "The Tailor and Cutter" of London, the cut of the Hon. Winston's clothes is not to be imitated by any one desirous of posing as "good form in dress." His wedding coat was too long and too heavy as a morning coat, and too short and skimpy as a frock. "It gave," so wrote the tailor-editor, "the wearer a sort of puerile coachman appearance." In short, it was "one of the greatest failures as a wedding garment" the editor had ever seen. Evidently, Winston's wedding clothes were not so nice as those of his bride.

black skirt with a wide, broad, soft skirt, while the waist is of red chiffon which falls loosely over white net tucked very finely. The tucks show through the chiffon and come up around the neck, finishing the dress at the top with a Dutch neck. Tucked white stuffs, showing through thin material of a thinner texture, is the latest thing. Mrs. C. B. Alexander had a peacock blue voile, made very plainly, with the exception of a little Persian trimming, that was worn over a soft white material. With this costume she wore a large black hat lined with peacock blue silk and covered with peacock feathers. The new color, and which was in vogue all last winter in New York, will become common here if every one buys the hats and gowns of which the windows are now full. The shade is

He admitted that the realization of this golden dream depended on the success of his Kawahale mine. In fact Goodwin's exits and entrances just now seem to be hanging on the success of that venture. Every time he makes an excursion into outside lands where kopecks grow instead of stars

The Del Monte Cat Club is the latest addition to the clubbdom of the city. It is already a member of the American Cat Association and numbers among its members some of the most prominent cat fanciers on the coast. The club will hold its first annual show at Del Monte on the 16th and 17th of October. Miss Gertrude Blaine, who is a great cat fancier and is looking after the entire here in the city, says that already more than half a hundred entries have been made and the outlook for the success of the show is exceedingly bright. In order to stimulate the interest in the show it has been decided that it will not be necessary for the particulars of pedigree to be known. In case the cat's record is not known it may be entered as such in the unknown class on the entry list. A splendid array of trophies has been provided by the club. Mrs. Norton, who is one of the greatest authorities on cats in the country, will come from Los Angeles to judge the show. She has donated a handsome cup for one of the premiere Town Talk.

NORTH CRAGMONT

Today is the opening, be sure and come. Get a beautiful home of your own at little cost; a home that will increase in value on account of its location and surroundings. Come over to Berkeley today and let us show you North Cragmont. Lots in this tract are exceedingly choice and the prices and terms are reasonable.

The people who live in Berkeley are the most satisfied people in the world—those who own their own homes will not sell, because they realize that they are living amongst pleasant neighbors—in an environment that is clean and wholesome.

Ask any one of them what they think of Berkeley.

The beautiful North Cragmont property is now offered as low as $650 for a lot 50x155—$65 down and $6.50 per month, with no interest or taxes for two years.

You can own your own home in North Cragmont—you can live in peace and quiet, and enjoy all the advantages which feature this delightful college city.

You can start for a small amount and make money while you are saving.

North Cragmont is the last of the exclusive property—the last tract of desirable land that can be offered for high class home sites, for there is no more left when this is gone.

Since the San Francisco fire Berkeley's population has increased 15,000. Many who sought shelter here then became so pleased that they have built their own homes, and are now our good citizens.

Berkeley has outgrown its limits, and it cannot grow further without covering North Cragmont, which adjoins North Berkeley.

North Cragmont's accessibility, its drainage, its superb view, and its distance from San Francisco are all important factors for you to consider.

It takes no longer to go from the ferry in San Francisco to North Cragmont than it does from the ferry to Golden Gate Park, and the fare is the same.

When you live in North Cragmont you enjoy the delights and pleasures of the country and have constantly at hand all the advantages of the city.

It is the place for your children. They can roam at will over the hills, into the forests and play by the streams, picking wild flowers, wild berries and all the time gaining health and making their little constitutions sound and strong.

Here you have the best schools in the world for them to attend, even from the kindergarten up to the State University.

North Cragmont is open to the public today. Its wide and winding streets are nearly finished. It is laid out most artistically, and every lot has a commanding view of bay and ocean.

Come over today and let us show you North Cragmont. You will be under no obligation to buy. You will not be annoyed by our persistency, nor talked into anything.

Every one who sees this property can appreciate its value from every common sense standpoint.

It is the one opportunity to start your own home at small cost and to buy property that is going to become very valuable within a short time.

Take the Key Route or S. P. trains. Get off at Berkeley Station. Our automobiles will be waiting to take you to North Cragmont.
